

Figure 2 | External molecular information is useful only after reference recovery and functional lift decouple

